

Meg Harris Williams

www.artlit.info

Meg uses drawings of the moving figure as the basis for painting and printmaking, and merges these with tonal or textural qualities abstracted from sketches, paintings and photographs of landscapes and natural forms. Her prints are either etchings, printed by hand in the traditional way, or digital images worked on the computer through merging and layering. These are then printed in pigment-based archival-quality inks on Hahnemuhle Fine Art paper.

All prints are signed and numbered with an edition size generally between 5 and 25.

Meg is a member of Borderlands Artists Consortium (www.borderlandsartists.org). Her work is in private collections in this country, Italy, Spain, France, Germany, Scandinavia, the USA, Argentina and Australia, and in the New Hall Women's Art Collection.
